Of the four new models three will be larger and more powerful than compacts now on the road. Some of the current compacts will boost engine horse power next year

One business executive in Detroit thinks that the small and large models will continue to tend toward one another until they meet somewhere. He thinks the cycle will start over again. The four new compacts slat-

The Tempest will have a 45degree incline to the motor, permitting a lower hood line, and will have the first four cylinder motor since the Henry J of seven years ago.

Nixon Embarks On Project

CHICAGO (AP) - Vice President Richard M. Nixon embarked on a project Tuesday of having his picture taken with each of the convention's 1,331 delegates.

The photographs were snapped after Nixon made his talks at delegation meetings. He started that round in the morning.

The pictures were made on an assembly line basis with each delegate alloted only a few seconds.

Mob Psychology

Reporting on what happened last May in San Francisco when college-age demonstrators broke up a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover sounds a serious warning to this na-

He says the incident was inspired by Communist agitators, and that it proves a few Communists, using mob psychology, can turn peaceful demonstrations into riots even in America.

We've seen what has happened in Korea and Japan, and what is happening in Leopoldville and other areas of the Congo. But to have the FBI chief tell us the same thing could happen in the United States puts our internal security in grave jeopardy.

He says the San Francisco incident worked out so well for the Communists they are certain to make American college and university campuses their prime target of the immediate future. If this be true, then American students

How To Drive Though Drinking

Many Pennsylvania drivers will watch with interest the experiment by the Connecticut Division of Alcoholism, which has devised a formula to guide drinkers on when it is all right for them to drive and when they ought to stay off the road.

A pamphlet based on research at Yale University has been distributed to the public. It contains a "wait meter" which tells a driver how much time should elapse after drinking certain amounts of liquor or beer.

For example, the average 150-pounder before driving should wait a half hour after swallowing a cocktail, highball or the second of two beers taken within 15 minutes. The waiting period is an hour after drinking two cocktails or highballs or four beers within a half hour. The waiting period would increase or decrease according to the weight of the drinker.

A wag may wonder what a drinker in a cafe or saloon is apt to do while waiting the prescribed limits. However, it can be useful to social drinkers. An hour's wait in the home of a friend is worthwhile if it improves the chance of a safe trip home, or even minimizes the risk of arrest for drunken driving.

There are people who will automatically believe that the "wait meter" is a lot of nonsense and does not apply to them because they can hold their liquor a lot better. Society will still need the protection of the arresting officer and the convicting judge against the drinker who does not know and will not admit he is drunk when driving.

one who closely observes political maneuvers that the strategy of Nelson Rockefeller's managers was that without his ardent support, the Republican candidate this year would be defeated and that in 1964, the Republican Party will turn to the one and only man who can defeat millionaire John Kennedy and, of course, that man will be millionaire Nelson Rockefeller.

Rome fell when the emperorship became a purchasable commodity. It is a lesson not to be ignored in this era of American history when millionaires, donning the garb of super-liberalism, spend millions to get themselves nominated and elected.

Vice President Nixon took this step entirely on his own. Let the fates take care of 1964 - as they undoubtedly will do. What Rockefeller has to contribute politically is the assumption that he is popular in New York State and California two very important vote-getting areas, where minorities are par-throughout New York State and in the Los Angeles area of California. Nelson Rockefeller is very close to David Dubinsky, Alex Rose and Jacob Potofsky, labor leaders.

Also, in New York City and in Chicago, the Negro vote is of considerable significance. The Rockefeller philanthropies have always done much for Negroes.

One of the unfortunate factors in this picture is the use of the friendship between Joe Kennedy, John's father, and Lady Astor and the so-called Cliveden Set.

These considerations are not to be trifled with in a tight campaign. They are of sufficient importance for Nixon to run up to New York to talk to Rockefeller about unity in 1960 and let the Almighty take care of 1964.

This is what is involved in modern community planning. This is what is meant by comprehensive planning. It may be just a bit frightening until it is recognized that comprehensive planning, like everything else must be taken a step at a time.

Community planning is not something new. And its development has not been without the "city beautiful" movement. position in 1892.

Next came the efficiency experts, whose idea was that everything in community planning had to be subordinated to making the community more effic-

These trends - opposite to each other in most respects were followed by another that turned the attention of the community planners toward zoning in the narrower sense of the Zoning was sometimes used -or rather abused - only to protect special investments and to insure property values. It was not too frequently used to attain the proper distribution of functions within city or town, but rather to guard the status quo or to guarantee the return on a real estate investment. Even when established to fur ther community-wide interests, however, it could never offer more than a partial solution to community planning problems. Indeed, zoning can never be considered a substitute for proper

It was not until "post-war planning" became a common and popular occupation of many governments in the 1940s that comprehensive planning became at all general. Planning today is concerned with making the community a place in which to live and work. Planning is concerned with beauty design.

It is concerned with the efficient layout of streets, utilities and public buildings, with good zoning patterns to assure adequate and proper use of land for the many functions which must transpire within a community's boundaries.

It is concerned with housing for residences do require more space than any other use in most communities, and it is concerned with the prevention and elimination of bad housing, of slums and blight that fester like ugly sores in so many of our

But planning is concerned too that the community have an adequate industrial and commercial base to support it, that its provision of facilities of all sorts keep pace with its growth, that it have a harmonious society, and that it possess the means to conduct its government according to the democratic formula. Above all modern planning recognizes that it must deal with the entire range of these problems with an understanding of their inter-related character.

That is why the modern approach to community planning is called comprehensive, because it comprehends all phases, all facets of the community.

Subsequent articles will deal with the role zoning plays in the orderly development of the progressive community.

Stock Market Erases Some Small Gains

By ED MORSE AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP)-The stock market Wednesday erased some small gains and sank deeper. Trading was dull.

After the close, with Wall Street plunged in gloom, came news the street has been awaiting for months - a cut in mar-

The Federal Reserve Board reduced margin requirements for stock purchases from 90 per cent to 70 per cent. This is the "down payment' required for buying stocks. It was the first change since October 1958 when margins were boosted to 90 per cent from 70 per cent.

Wall Street hoped that the easing of credit would rescue the market from the slow, gloomy decline which has brought the averages close to their lows for 1960. Wednesday's was the 12th decline in the Dow Jones industrial average in 13 straight sessions.

The market advanced early Wednesday. But prices began to falter soon after mid-session and losses sharpened steadily, leaving the list at its worst of the day by the close.

Quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated 21/2 billion dollars, based on the fall in the Associated Press average.

Arabs Plan To Recall Envov

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said yesterday the United Arab Republic government is recalling its ambassador to Tehran for consultation about Iran's "recognition" of Israel.

The Middle East News Agency said the ambassador, Mahmoud Moharran Hammad, is expected to arrive within the next two days. Tehran reports quoted the Shah as saying Saturday that Iran still recognizes Israel diplomatically and there is no question of withdrawing that recognition. This aroused indignation of the Cairo press and the Arab League officials.

Iran recalled its ambassador to Israel several years ago, but the Shah said this was for budget reasons.

Funny thing, but on Sunday I had a sudden urge to write Joe and Pat Nazzo. I first met them, as did many of you, when they visited our store several years ago with their glittering array of rings, for both men and women, priced for all budgets. There was somethingabout them I liked right off . . . and while I am a terribly delinquent correspondent, I think of them frequently and with pleasure.

Needless to say, I didn't write the letter, however. My intentions usually go by the board in that respect. In this case it was just as well, for they weren't home in Connecticut anyway. By the time my message would have reached them, my office telephone was ringing and Joe's voice was saying, "Hello, Madalyn-do you happen to know if Mr. Widmer ran an ad about our jewelry

"A couple of weeks maybe," Joe replied. "We'll stop by the store in a little while to say hello.

So here they are, and just a few minutes ago Pat and I renewed acquaintance over coffee and toast here in my office. I noticed she was still wearing the pretty held on the Van Why lawn in cluster diamond from her husband's stock which she Venetian Palace in Rome ended about the same time that a lot of Baratta (third from right) has the form of a fried chicken has been wearing ever since I knew her. Then there are, of course, the pearls, marcasites, coats, with extra material in Place, Jr., and family, Mr. and onyx, and such that proved so popular on their previous visits. One of my favorite rings is a double pearl, which came from them and has been worn almost exclusively for the past year without showing a sign of wear. Another ring I love wearing, because it always wins compliments, is a lacy, wide, gem-set band which passes with bousons or curved extra or, Richard DePue and daugh- very neatly for a wedding band and which was priced below ten dollars, as I recall . . . and still a third is an emerald-cut crystal that looks very impressive and is worn by me on occasions when I wish to look particularly well endowed with worldly goods. This delights me, because it invariably causes some bug-eyed female to gasp, "Madalyn, where did YOU get THAT?" At this point, however, I always spoil my own fun by saying, "From the Nazzos at Wyckoff's-it was only $19.95, but I love it." Sometimes I wish I were not so frank or so "bar-

Mary Carter says . . .

Why give a FREE

Why Not Just Charge HALF PRICE?

"There's nothing mysterious about my famous free paint offer — it's simply a way of dramatizing the fact that unique operational economies make it possible for me to manufacture paint worth every penny of $6.98 a gallon, and still give a second can away, absolutely free of extra cost, with every can I sell at that price.

"Mary Carter paints are quality-priced because they are quality paints, and I'll never 'second rate' them with low price tags. I save money with my particular way of doing business, and those savings are traditionally passed along to you, at Mary Carter paint stores, with Every 2nd Can FREE of Extra Cost."

"I've Found A Better Way To Sell Quality Paint!"

"I can manufacture high quality paints, enamels and varnishes at less cost because of my operational economies and because I'm satisfied with a small profit per gallon! Middlemen's profits are eliminated by shipping directly from factory to company and dealer-owned stores . . . ultramodern paint factories and equipment . . . streamlined merchandising methods . . . my own fleet of Diesel trucks to cut costs of obtaining raw materials and of shipping paint . . . All of these effect savings, which I pass on to you with every 2nd can of paint absolutely free of extra cost!"
